If you're anything like us, the moment the skies turn grey and it rains at least two days in a row, there's only one thing on our minds: Christmas. And all the exciting things that come with Christmas like shopping, eating, and spending time with friends and family.

And what better place to do all that than in Sicily? It's just a ferry-ride away and makes for the perfect winter getaway.

8. Nelson (<https://www.facebook.com/nelsonsicily/>)

Nelson is a one-stop shop for all things artisanal and Sicilian. Stock up your pantry with everything from single-origin olive oils from Mount Etna to luggage-friendly jars of pistachio pesto, organic tomato sugo, marinated red garlic from Nubia and so much more more.

9. Modica Centro Storico

Calling all chocolate lovers! This UNESCO-listed Baroque town is famous for its traditionally-made rich, dark, and crumbly chocolate. So if you've got a sweet tooth or just want to try something different, make sure to visit a couple of the chocolate makers (especially the Antica Dolceria Bonajuto) and give it a taste.
